SPECIAL TOURNAMENT REQUIREMENTS:

Special Tournaments are tournaments which are conducted for some special occasion or reason, using courses of fire, targets, firearms, positions, or other factors, which are different from any NRA program. Such Tournaments are unusual in nature by definition, are usually one of a kind, held for a specific purpose or event which may or may not be directly involved with NRA shooting programs.

A request to hold a Special Tournament must come from the sponsoring organization. They may be sanctioned with the direct approval of either the Executive Director of General Operations or the Director of the Competitive Shooting Division.

None of the shooting activities within a Special Tournament can be those which NRA normally uses for classifications or National Records.

General Regulations pertaining to the operation of Approved Tournaments are to govern Special Tournaments.
